Editor's Note

Dear Students,

This is the last issue of the newsletter for this year.

As a collective, we are doing great work. Keep in mind that there are opportunities coming up to continue to build your resume as well.

As the semester comes to an end, let's reflect on what we have accomplished and make plans for the new year. Make sure to email me if you have questions about registration and your plan of studies.

Have a restful and peaceful thanksgiving break!

Gratitude unlocks the fullness of life.

- Melody Beattie

Sincerely,
Dr. Larrotta

Jovita Ross-Gordon Scholarship

*Congratulations
Ayesha Mukaddam on receiving the Jovita Ross-Gordon
Scholarship this Fall semester!*

Ayesha Mukaddam Vohra works as a Technology Project Manager/ Solutions Strategist. In the last decade she has worked with professionals from various backgrounds, helping change makers, trailblazers, thought leaders and big thinkers develop their ideas until they came to fruition. Ayesha describes,

“I am passionate about finding creative solutions for those who are stuck in their professional lives. I sit on the board of two non-profits, both of which I am passionate about and enjoy having conversations that lead to transformational change in our businesses and personal lives.”

Student Highlights

Aundrea L. Evans
Alexis M. Garcia
Krystal M. Saenz

Passed their comprehensive exam this fall.
Congratulations on successfully completing this important step in the program!

The comprehensive exam is a culminating requirement determining academic readiness to graduate. As soon as students reach 30-credit hours in the program, they are eligible to sign up for comps. To do this, simply email the program coordinator. The comprehensive exam is offered only during spring and fall semesters.

ESL Conversation Hour

Master’s students enrolled in ADED 5342/7342 ESL Methods offered a conversation hour to ESL adult learners on campus for five weeks this Fall. The purpose was to provide a community service as well as to have the opportunity to practice teaching English to an actual adult learner. Thank you to the collaboration provided by the Texas State Intensive English (TSIE) program and colleagues from the Curriculum and Instruction department.

Congratulations on successfully completing this project!
