

A Message from the Title IV-E Child Welfare Partnership Team

Dear Title IV-E CWP alumni, students, and friends,

We are excited to announce our new Vision, Mission, Goals, and Principles statements, which will guide the continued development of our Title IV-E CWP program. We also developed a logic model that clearly shows how our CWP program can achieve the new vision and mission. To learn more about CWP program development and changes, check out our newly launched CWP website.

Have a great summer, and take care!

-The CWP Team

Child Welfare Partnership Mission

The mission of the Title IV-E Child Welfare Partnership is to enhance the values, knowledge, and skills of the child welfare workforce in Texas through social work education, financial assistance, ongoing training, and career support.

Child Welfare Partnership: Program Updates and Announcements

New Opportunity for CWP Graduates: LCSW Group

As a continued way to support CPS employees and graduates of the Title IV-E Child Welfare Partnership program, we are exploring the option of adding a free LCSW Supervision group to our Title IV-E contract for the 2021-2022 contract year. The LCSW Supervision group would provide the clinical supervision that is required to move from LMSW to LCSW licensure status in the state of Texas. Depending on your current job duties, outside clinical work may be necessary to meet the LCSW supervision requirements.

We are still in the early stages of planning, but if you are interested in learning more about this group, please send an email to cwpartnership@txstate.edu with the Subject Line "LCSW Group," and include the following information:

1. your name,
2. the year you graduated from the Texas State MSW program,
3. your current position at CPS/DFPS, your current region and office location, and
4. your current licensure status (LMSW or no licensure).

CWP Alumni Survey

This summer, CWP Alumni will be receiving a brief survey from the CWP Team. We are interested in knowing basic information about graduates, in addition to learning your interests regarding ongoing training and your current professional areas of expertise. Keep an eye out for the survey in the summer!

Strategies for Change:

Evidence-Based Practices for Mental Health and Substance Use

The Title IV-E Prevention Services Clearinghouse selected two evidence-based practice models (EBPs) that are well-supported for both mental health and substance abuse: Brief Strategic Family Therapy and Multisystemic Therapy. Both EBPs are applicable to youths and are delivered in roughly 4 months typically by master's level mental-health specialists.

Brief Strategic Family Therapy (BSFT)

- Clients: families with children; adolescents (6 to 17 years) who are at-risk of or display problem behaviors such as substance use, bullying, antisocial peer associations, or truancy
- Delivery: 12 to 16 weekly sessions at settings such as clinics, health agencies, and community centers.
- BSFT consists of three intervention components:
 - 1) Counselors "join" the family system by establishing relationships with family members,
 - 2) Identify patterns associated with problem behavior by observing family interactions, and
 - 3) Work in the present with task assignment, coaching families on effective interactions, and utilizing reframes.

Multisystemic Therapy (MST)

- Clients: youths aged 12 to 17 years to promote prosocial behavior and reduce mental health symptomology, criminal activity, out-of-home placements, and substance use.
- Delivery: 3 to 5 months with 24/7 available services and weekly visits at locations such as homes, schools, and community centers.
- MST is an intensive treatment designed for Through an ecological assessment of the client, the client's family, school, and community, therapists from licensed MST providers tailor their intervention strategies to target identified drivers.
