

BookSmart Faculty Data

Faculty Senate survey completed by 113 instructors* in Fall 2023

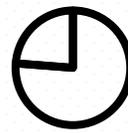

Data below are based on the 73% who reported participation in BookSmart

66%

Were either somewhat or extremely dissatisfied with BookSmart

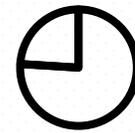

19%

Were either somewhat or extremely satisfied with BookSmart

77%

Somewhat or extremely dissatisfied w/access

76%

Somewhat or extremely dissatisfied w/instructions

77%

Somewhat or extremely dissatisfied w/communication

56% of respondents experienced difficulties with their book order and 66% experienced difficulties making their learning materials available to students

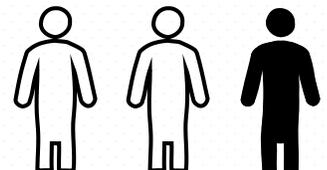

21%

Number of respondents who prefer to deliver their course materials digitally

69%

Number of respondents who prefer students have a choice of digital and print materials

Most instructors (68%) reported that their learning materials were not available to all students in all of their courses on the first day of class

"The bookstore should not change the textbook from what is requested by the instructor. In addition, more detailed instructions should be provided to show how to find and set up access to the digital"

"...I appreciate they are trying to help students save money on textbooks, but not all courses are the same. We don't all use textbooks. If a faculty member uses their professional judgement to choose the best material for their class, the bookstore should respect their judgement and expertise."

"Communicate with faculty. Answer e-mails. If requested materials are not available consult faculty before making substitutions"

* Not all questions were answered by all faculty respondents