About the Camps

Since 1988, the Aquatic Science Adventure Camps at Texas State University have been the premier science summer camp in central Texas. With sessions available for children ages 9-14, they are designed to introduce campers to the amazing world of aquatic science through a holistic, inquiry-based learning environment. We strive to make sure the entire camp is an educational experience and even our fun and games are designed to get campers to think scientifically. Campers are encouraged to ask questions and given tools to investigate those questions for themselves.

Working Conditions

Camps run from June to August, with training taking place in late May. Counselors need to be able to work outdoors for long hours in the heat and any other weather conditions that may occur. Need to be able to stand for long hours and hike up to 2 miles carrying a backpack.

Supervision

Counselors will report to the Education Program Manager

Compensation

This is a paid position. Pay is $13-$15 per hour depending on experience and certifications.
