COMMENCEMENT AT TEXAS STATE

Welcome to Texas State University's Commencement! In order to ensure your enjoyment and safety while visiting with us, please review the following information.

Live Streaming

For your convenience, the ceremonies will be streamed live on the commencement website at www.txst.edu/commencement. Recordings will be available for viewing at a later time.

Processional and Graduate Recognition

Candidates will seat themselves on the arena floor prior to the ceremony in order by degree level. During Graduate Recognition, candidates will cross in front of the stage from right to left.

Commencement and Graduation

Commencement is a ceremony in which preliminary degree candidates are recognized for their academic achievements. The commencement program reflects the name and degree of each candidate as well as the honors designation based on data available at the time of publication. Therefore, this program should not be considered an official list of graduates.

Guidelines for Candidates and Guests

Commencement is a significant and solemn event that celebrates years of academic achievement. In order to ensure that the ceremony is meaningful for all in attendance, please avoid all unnecessary conversation and movement. Also, please refrain from using air horns or other noisemakers during the calling of student names.

Recessional

At the end of the ceremony, all candidates will recess to Sewell Park. Guests should remain seated until all candidates have recessed. Then, guests are welcome to meet their candidates in the park near entrances 2 and 3. In the case of inclement weather, candidates will not process outside, but will leave their seats after the Platform Party has recessed.

Pride and Traditions

Commencement is an important rite of passage with many time-honored traditions. From the ceremonial mace to the gown worn by graduates, every detail of a commencement ceremony is steeped in pride and tradition. To read more about commencement traditions at Texas State, please visit <https://www.txst.edu/about/history-traditions/commencement.html>.

TXST NEXT

As the workforce needs evolve and professional landscapes grow more complex, Texas State University is responding by expanding its offerings in applied doctoral education, equipping experienced professionals with the advanced knowledge and practical tools necessary to lead in high-impact fields.

Two programs at the forefront of this mission are the Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) and the Doctor of Business Administration (DBA). These practice-focused doctoral degrees are designed not only to deepen disciplinary expertise but to empower professionals to apply research, innovation, and critical decision-making to real-world challenges in healthcare and business.

The Doctor of Nursing Practice, housed within the St. David's School of Nursing in the College of Health Professions, prepares advanced practice nurses to improve patient outcomes and healthcare delivery through clinical leadership, evidence-based practice, and systems-level thinking. DNP students engage in high-impact projects that translate research into practice, from improving rural health access to optimizing care coordination for vulnerable populations.

Meanwhile, the Doctor of Business Administration program in the McCoy College of Business supports experienced business professionals who aim to influence strategic decision-making in complex organizational settings. By blending advanced analytical training with practical application, the DBA prepares graduates to address pressing business challenges, drive organizational transformation, and contribute to executive education.

These applied doctoral programs are part of Texas State's broader commitment to meeting workforce needs through graduate education that is rigorous, relevant, and responsive. Graduates emerge as leaders—capable of translating theory into action and innovation into practice—ready to shape the future of their professions.
