Mathworks at the 2015 Joint Mathematics Meetings

The 2015 Joint Mathematics Meetings (JMM) were held in San Antonio in early January. Max Warshauer and Hiroko Warshauer had the opportunity to attend and present with graduate student Christina Starkey Richardson their research, "Using Journals to Support Student Learning: The Case of an Elementary Number Theory Course". The JMM is the nation's largest mathematics conference, hosted jointly by the American Mathematical Society and the Mathematical Association of America. The conference includes more than
