COMMENCEMENT AT TEXAS STATE

Welcome to Texas State University's Commencement! In order to ensure your enjoyment and safety while visiting with us, please review the following information.

Live Streaming

For your convenience, the ceremonies will be streamed live on the commencement website at www.txst.edu/commencement. Recordings will be available for viewing at a later time.

Processional and Graduate Recognition

Candidates will seat themselves on the arena floor prior to the ceremony in order by degree level. During Graduate Recognition, candidates will cross in front of the stage from right to left.

Commencement and Graduation

Commencement is a ceremony in which preliminary degree candidates are recognized for their academic achievements. The commencement program reflects the name and degree of each candidate as well as the honors designation based on data available at the time of publication. Therefore, this program should not be considered an official list of graduates.

Guidelines for Candidates and Guests

Commencement is a significant and solemn event that celebrates years of academic achievement. In order to ensure that the ceremony is meaningful for all in attendance, please avoid all unnecessary conversation and movement. Also, please refrain from using air horns or other noisemakers during the calling of student names.

Recessional

At the end of the ceremony, all candidates will recess to Sewell Park. Guests should remain seated until all candidates have recessed. Then, guests are welcome to meet their candidates in the park near entrances 2 and 3. In the case of inclement weather, candidates will not process outside, but will leave their seats after the Platform Party has recessed.

Pride and Traditions

Commencement is an important rite of passage with many time-honored traditions. From the ceremonial mace to the gown worn by graduates, every detail of a commencement ceremony is steeped in pride and tradition. To read more about commencement traditions at Texas State, please visit <https://www.txst.edu/about/history-traditions/commencement.html>.

TXST NEXT

Texas State University stands at the forefront of transformative water research, uniquely positioned at the headwaters of the San Marcos River to address the state's most critical water challenges. As Texas increases its focus on water infrastructure and supply, TXST faculty, staff, and students develop innovative, practical solutions in collaboration with government agencies and private organizations.

Advancing Practical Solutions

President Dr. Kelly Damphousse highlights the commitment of the university community, noting their dedication to managing, conserving, and protecting this essential resource. The broad span of research at TXST includes groundwater sustainability, water quality monitoring, conservation technologies, invasive species control, habitat restoration, advanced purification methods, flood predictability, and water-efficient engineering and agricultural techniques.

The Meadows Center: A Research Hub

At the heart of these initiatives, The Meadows Center for Water and the Environment at Spring Lake serves as a vital hub for both research and community engagement. Since 2010, the center has secured more than $30 million in grants. Executive Director Dr. Robert Mace emphasizes the value of TXST's location, describing it as a "living laboratory" that offers both researchers and visitors a firsthand appreciation of the importance and fragility of water resources.

Pioneering Innovation and Resilience

Civil engineering efforts, led by Dr. Keisuke Ikehata, are pioneering direct potable reuse, transforming treated wastewater into clean, safe, and palatable drinking water. Funded by nearly $1 million, the pilot system at the San Marcos Wastewater Treatment Plant has demonstrated that reclaimed water can be both sustainable and high quality.

Meanwhile, TXST's University Transportation Center, CREATE, directed by Dr. Stacey Kulesza, leverages a $10 million federal grant to advance coastal infrastructure resilience. One key innovation, "seahives," hexagonal concrete tubes, protects bridge foundations while boosting local biodiversity.

Breakthroughs in Aquatic Biology

In aquatic biology, a $15 million partnership with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers propels research on the responses of aquatic species to evolving stream conditions. Using the TRIAGE initiative, researchers collect data from hundreds of river sites to inform ecological modeling and enhance water management strategies. Dr. William Nowlin underscores the significance of Texas's diverse river systems and biomes, enabling research that not only benefits Texas but can also be applied across the country.

Leading the Charge

As Texas grapples with rapid population growth and increasing climate variability, Texas State University's ongoing work is more essential than ever. TXST is not only studying water, it is actively leading the way to protect and sustain it for future generations.
