YMCA Soccer

Said 'Success'

The Austin YMCA's youth soccer program, designed to teach youngsters from eight through 12 years of age the sport, has been declared a success by Jim Cawley, physical director of the Y.

Sixty boys and girls participated in the program during the three-month span, which came to an end last Saturday with tournament competition against the Houston Youth Soccer Club. The two Austin teams lost to the more-experienced Houstonians.

A fall soccer program will begin in September. Information can be obtained on it from the YMCA.
