A miniature tornado resulted in the Junior soccer clinic that attracted approximately two hundred kids from the ALAZAN APACHE vicinity. After teaching the youngsters the fundamentals of the game the department had over 300 pair of football shoes that had been donated to give away. Anyone can imagine 200 kids trying shoes on for size and the confusion and havoc that followed. Not one shoe remained in sight inside of 30 minutes.

Children and adults are moving activities out of doors since the completion of the new concrete slab at DENVER HEIGHTS. The Mexican Dance class at EDGEWOOD has 50 girls and 20 new boys but the boys are so bashful they want their own private class.
